BERLIN GETS INVITATION TO CONFERENCE AT CANNES

Allied Delegates Confer On Big Problems Of Europe

PROTECT FRANCE

Italians Ask To Be Included In Pact; Lenine Accepts

(Reuter's Service)

Cannes, Jan. 9.—The British, French, Belgian and Italian financial experts conferred this morning with regard to the amount to be paid by Germany, the effect of a moratorium for Germany on each of the Allies, guaranteed to be demanded from Germany and the carrying out of the necessary financial reform in Germany. The general opinion is that an agreement is near.

Cannes, Jan. 9.—The conference has decided to invite the Germans to attend on January 11. The economic committee have finally settled the European consortium question, abandoning the proposal for a £20,000,000 corporation, and substituting a British corporation capitalised at £2,000,000, subscribed by affiliated companies, while the nations concerned will register subsidiary corporations to it in their respective countries.

(China Press Service)

Paris, Jan.—A dispatch from Cannes states that Italian circles favor the inclusion of Italy in the pact and that Britain and France are discussing the matter. Britain will guarantee France against any possible future German aggression. This would give Italy the place orignally assigned to the United States in the treaty proposed in Paris when the Versailles peace treaty was signed.

London.—A dispatch from Cannes says the Russian Soviet Government has accepted the invitation to attend the European economic conference.

SENATOR BRANDS NEWBERRY ALIBI "FALSE AS HELL"

Williams Scoffs At Michigan Man's Plea Of Ignorance

(China Press Service)

Washington, Jan. 10.—Senator Newberry addressing the Senate this afternoon made a sweeping declaration of his innocence of any election fraud. He denied any personal knowledge of the election expenditures from the large campaign fund on his behalf and said "As God is my witness, I'm not conscious of having done in connection wtih the 1918 election in Michigan a single unlawful, dishonorable corrupt act."

He said that when he learned of the campaign cost of $195,000 he was filled with astonishment and regret.

Senator Williams, in debating the Newberry case declared that Newberry's statement that he (Newberry) knew nothing about expenditures and collections in his campaign were as "false as hell."

JAPANESE WELCOMED

(Reuter's Service)

London, Jan. 9.—The Japanese commercial mission received a civic welcome, headed by the Lord Mayor on their arrival at Manchester today. They visited the ship canal and the Royal Exchange and subsequently attended a luncheon presided over by Sir Edward Stockton, president of the Chamber of Commerce, who advocated co-operation rather than jealousy between the two countries.

"The Bootleggers' Anthem" Now Warbled By Wet Congressmen

"The Bootleggers Anthem" has been injected into the Congressional Record at Washington, by Senator Stanley in connection with remarks on his amendment to the Wine and Beer bill. The Kentucky Senator, however, disclaims authorship of the verses, dedicated to the Eighteenth Amendment, which, he says, were sent to him. Here they are.

My country, 'tis of thee,
Land of grape juice and tea,
Of thee I sing.
Land where we all have tried
To break the law and lied;
From every mountain side
The bootlegs spring.

My native country thee,
Land of home brewerie,
Thy brew I love.
I love thy booze that thrills
And thy illicit stills,
Thy moonshine runs in rills

"It was a song of the rejoicing," Senator Stanley explained, "that the friends of the Volstead act brought to the home brewers when they provided that homes could not be searched."

LACK OF FUNDS CAUSES RETURN OF DELEGATES FROM AMERICA

Third Group Of Advisers Back From Washington By Wenatchee

YEN'S ABSENCE FELT

Multiciplicity Of Leaders Handicapped Work, Technical Men

The original plan of the Ministry of Foreign Affairs was to provide the whole Chinese Delegation to Washington with the sum of $15,000,000 which was to be raised by the Ministry of Finance and the Ministry of Communications in lump sums of $8,000,000 and $7,000,000.

The total sum was to cover the expenses for four months, including the time spent on the journey both ways. However, the funds actually placed in the hands of the delegation fell considerably short of the figure promised, and in view of the expiration of the four months' period and the difficulties arising from inadequate finance, various members of the delegation obtained the consent of the three chief delegates to their applications for permission to return to China.

Thus all together three batches of the delegates have returned already. The first batch left Vancouver on Dec. 7 last, composed of the technical advisers representing the Ministry of Education and attaches of the Ministry of Army and the Ministry of Navy. The second batch left San Francisco on December 17, and was composed of the technical delegates representing the Ministry of Foreign Affairs and the Ministry of Interior and three members of the Waichiaopu staff. The third batch, which left Seattle on December 24, arrived yesterday by the s.s. Wenatchee, and was composed of 23 persons, including Legal Adviser Lo Wen-kan; Chang Yuk-chuan, technical adviser of the Ministry of Foreign Affairs, and secretaries representing the Ministries of Foreign Affairs, Army, Navy, and Justice. Lo Wen-kan has been appointed Vice-Minister of Justice in the new cabinet. Other batches will follow in due course.

FELT YEN'S ABSENCE

Members of the third batch were interviewed yesterday by a representative of THE CHINA PRESS but as they had left the United States over a month ago, they were unable to throw light on the most recent happenings in Washington, the last wireless message received on board the Wenatchee being that Dr. Wellington Koo had announced that the recent negotiations over the Shantung Question have not reached a final stage.

"We very much missed Dr. W. W. Yen," our representative was told, "because Dr. Alfred Sze did not strictly regard himself as the leader of the chief delegates and the efficiency of the body of the delegates was affected by having practically three heads to work under. The people's delegates, Dr. David Z. T. Yui and Dr. Monlin Chiang attended some of

OKUMA, MAKER OF NEW JAPAN, DEAD; NATION PAYS TRIBUTE

Former Premier To Have Public Funeral At Tokio

WAS PROGRESSIVE

Led Transition From Old Feudal State—Was World Figure

(Reuter's Pacific Service)

Tokio, Jan. 10.—Marquis Okuma died at seven o'clock this morning.

PLAN STATE FUNERAL

(Eastern News Agency)

Tokio, Jan. 10.—It is reported that the funeral service of Marquis Okuma will be conducted in Hibiya Park, Tokio as a national funeral and that his body will lie in state for three days.

(Reuter's Pacific Service)

Tokio, Jan. 10.—The whole country, which has long been watching sympathetically by the death-bed of "the Sage of Waseda," is today mourning the loss of one who everywhere was regarded as Japan's greatest son, the late Marquis Okuma.

All political differences have been sunk and all criticisms of him as a statesman have been laid aside before the memory of his noble example as a pure and right-living man; as a scholar with world wide interests, of profound learning and an unrivalled ability to debate, who gave his best ungrudgingly to the promotion of what might contribute toward the peaceful development and welfare of his fellow-men.

One of the most remarkable tributes to the love and esteem in which he was held is evidenced by the fact that hundreds of students of Waseda University, of which he was the founder, united in prayer for his recovery. Such a tribute had never been paid before to any of Japan's great men except to the late Emperor Meiji. The University has closed for one week in memory of its dead founder.

"The Grand Old Man" was Marquis Okuma's designation in Japan, even among his political enemies. He was one of the few surviving figures that linked the feudal Japan of the shogunate and the industrial power that now sits at the council tables of the world. He was one of the young leaders in the period following the overthrow of the shoguns in the 60's. His career has been contemporary with each stage of the amazing process by which the feudal hermit state became one of the great nations. It was as a progressive and as a fighter for constitutional reform that he made his career, though later counted among the conservatives. He was thrice Premier.

The former Premier was created a marquis on July 14, 1916, was born in February, 1838 in Saga City, the son of Nobuyasu Okuma, a Samurai of the Saga clan.

Baron Okuma was one of the foremost statesmen of Japan and was internationally known. As his mother became a widow when he was eight years old, his early training was directed by her. He entered the Kodokwan, a clan school where classics were taught and subsequently studied Dutch, English and mathematics under the direction of foreign tutors at Nagasaki.

In the period of the restoration he advocated the abolition of the feudal system and the establish-

Forty Saved From Death In Disabled U. S. Submarine

The United States Submarine S-48, sunk while on a trial trip off Penfield Reef, near Bridgeport, Conn. The forty men aboard escaped through a torpedo tube indicated in the photo by an arrow, and were taken off by a passing tug. They had been trapped in the disabled submersible for more than twelve hours. A number of the crew were taken to the Naval Hospital in Brooklyn, N. Y., suffering from gas poisoning and exposure. Officials believe the accident happened because someone was careless before her trip began and failed to properly fasten a deck manhole cover which was forced and held partly open by water pressure after she dived. The heroic work of nineteen-year-old Peter Dunne saved the lives of the crew. He wriggled through the torpedo tube and signaled for help. Captain Eugene Olson, of the tugboat Socony, shown in the insert, responded and rescued the crew. The photo shows the bow of the ill-fated undersea boat extending above the surface. A member of the wrecking tug crew may be seen entering through the torpedo tube from which the trapped sailors escaped from death.

REPUBLICANS TO PASS BONUS BILL FOR EX-SOLDIERS

Decision For Early Enactment Is Reached At Conference

(China Press Service)

Washington, Jan. 10.—The move toward the party solidarity and the effort to find ways and means of increasing the efficiency of the Republican Party in Congress is understood to have a two-fold purpose.

At the White House dinner last night, President Harding and the prominent Republican party leader, in attendance, the decision was practically reached for the early enactment of the soldier bonus bill.

To reconcile any differences over the form to be given to Allied debt legislation, a Republican Senate conference is to be assembled.

It was intimated that when the Newberry election fraud contest and proposed amendment to the new Federal Reserve Act are disposed of, the foreign debt measure and the Soldier Bonus will be considered.

GRIFFITH NAMED IRISH CHIEF, BUT IS OVERRULED

Speaker Holds Nomination Is Out Of Order; Dail Adjourns

(China Press Service)

Dublin, Jan. 10.—Arthur Griffith was nominated the Chief Executive of the provisional government.

Dublin, Jan. 10.—Speaker MacNeill ruled that the nomination of Griffith as the Chief Executive of the Irish Republic was out of order. The Dail adjourned until tomorrow.

London, Jan. 10.—The transfer of the administrative powers to the New South Ireland government and the evacuation of troops and the general amnesty is expected immediately.

London, Jan. 10.—The Belfast correspondent of the Daily Mail says that Ulster's determination to refrain from entering the Irish Free State was strengthened by the example of "southern mentality methods" given in the Dail treaty discussion.

(Reuter's Service)

Mr. de Valera promised to support the ratificationists in the object to secure complete independence and not actively to interfere so long as the ratificationists do not injure the Irish nation.

Expansive Missies Now Put Trust In Banting

By Elsie McCormick

We were reading something about banting the other day. Banting is the latest scientific expression for reducing a lady to her lowest terms. It is a form of partial suicide by which a person dies a pound or so at a time, and is founded on the poem,

"Oh, the little more and how much it is;
And the little less, and what pounds away."

It is also a conservation movement, as one of its chief purposes is to prevent a lady from going all to waist. Every woman who literally tips the scales when she heaves aboard them, who shuns ruffles as she would a census-taker coming to ask her age when all her bridge club is within earshot, and who has about as much chance of being fitted by a ready-made gown as an elephant has of finding a key to his trunk is experimenting with some form of banting.

All systems are improper in that their aim and object is to make each candidate less of a lady. The less they make her, the more pleased she is. The feminists who say that every member of their sex should lead a well-rounded existence have no more following nowadays than an advocate of barefoot dancing in a needle factory. Not, however, that banting is confined to women. Among the men, who, as Irvin Cobb says, have figures that are not lost but gone before, there are many making the effort to get rid of pounds at any possible rate of exchange.

SHOULD TRY CHINA

Despite all their persistent efforts at self-torture, it seems to us that the banters have overlooked the one practically certain remedy for their condition. They should pick out a comfortable-looking parallel of latitude and follow it around until they come to China. Instead of putting powders in their bath water, they should put trunks on a steamer; instead of rolling on the floor, they should try rolling on an ocean.

Really, now, haven't you noticed how few redundant ladies there are in China, either native or foreign? Of course, the present season of the year is not a particularly good one for observation, because being swathed in fur coats and sweaters causes the most angular of ladies to look like a dowager whale. But in summer, when all that was unknown becomes known, the number of ladies who could really break a camel's back are exceedingly rare.

Why is it? Women here certainly lead a less strenuous life than at home; there are more temptations in the form of carbohydrate refreshments at afternoon teas; and the ricsha eliminates even the gentle exercise of a shopping tour; and there are more hours spent in the suspended animation of a bridge game. Yet among all the figures here, there are comparatively few built on the pattern of a cipher.

It may be that the popular devotion to dancing counteracts lack of activity during the day, and that a popular local prejudice against typhoid has relegated to the background the whipped cream which is so apt to convert plane geometry into the spherical variety. Or maybe China, with its whole bagful of new pathological tricks, gives the system so much exercise in combating germs that the exertion is rendered unnecessary.

FAT ONES VANISHING

The same statements regarding the rarity of too much weight holds good among the Chinese. There are business men and officials as sleek as a cat that has just surrounded a bottle of cream and heavy enough to be a serious strain on the bamboo poles of a sedan-chair. But their wives and daughters, making due allowances for winter raiment, are practically always as thin as a husband's excuse after a night out. A study of Chinese poetry proves that the ideal heroine is "slender as a willow," not "round as a pomegranate," according to the standards set forth in the poetry of the Near East. Perhaps through a process of natural selection, the race of rotund ladies is dying out in China as it seems to have already died in Japan. In the Philippines also the middle-aged woman is, far more likely to be an emaciated, furrowed person, quite dwarfed and overshadowed by her towering sleeves, and in Burma, judging only from pictures, the lady carrying too much ballast is almost unkown.

At home unhappy banters are steaming in electric light baths, riding vicious hobby horses under the tuition of Swedish massage specialists born in Berlin, studying Russian dancing under somebody who lived next door to a person owning a Russian wolf-hound, and practicing starvation under the direction of a doctor suffering from dyspepsia. In the meanwhile the real secret of remaining "as you were" is here somewhere in the Far East and nobody has even taken the trouble to find out where it keeps its trunk.

Maybe the menus in a typical Shanghai boarding-house have something to do with the popular custom of wearing one's skeleton on the outside.

U. S. TO INSIST UPON REPARATION REVISION AND ARMY REDUCTION OR FOREGO CONFERENCE

Stern Terms To Be Presented As Price Of Participation In Proposed European Economic Parley, If Cabinet Accepts Invitation

WILL ASK HALT IN "SQUANDERING"

President Intimates America Will Take Part, And Advisers Will Consider Bid At Special Meeting Scheduled For Next Tuesday

(Trans-Pacific News Service Exclusive To The China Press)

Washington, January 9.—Formal invitation from the Supreme Council to America to attend a European Economic Conference was received by Secretary of State Hughes today. The invitation will become a special order of business at next Tuesday's Cabinet meeting.

It is known that if America does accept the invitation she will have stern terms to present, particularly relating to an agreement whereby Europe will readjust the German reparations which America considers uncollectable and a further agreement drawn to halt national squandering in Europe for immense armies.

The question of meeting with Soviet Russia in the conference on terms of equality probably will figure largely in considering the desirability of accepting the invitation. President Harding has intimated recently that America will take part.

Washington, Jan. 9.—Measures to abolish the use of poison gas in warfare has been adopted by the Conference committee at Washington and questions dealing with air warfare now are being taken up.

It is expected that the Naval treaty will be presented to a plenary conference today.

(Reuter's Service)

Washington, Jan. 10.—The interest in the Conference is slowly waning as the Powers have nearly reached the end of a long and difficult program. The delegations are busily packing up. Sanguine peace-lovers are disappointed at the lack of concrete results though it is admitted by all sides that important results have been achieved.

The celebrated novelist, Mr. H. G. Wells, summed up his opinion in most moderate observers when he declared to interviewers on embarking for Europe that the tangible results of the Conference were less important than the indirect consequences to the world's peace.

AIRCRAFT RESOLUTION

The text of the aircraft resolution adopted by the representatives of the Five Powers is: "The Committee is of the opinion that it is not at present practicable to impose any effective limitations upon the number or characteristics of aircraft either commercial or military."

It was Mr. Balfour who suggested that the words "at present" should be inserted, arguing that the time might come when advance knowedge would clarify the differences between commercial and military aviation.

At Signor Schanzer's suggestion the words "other than lighter than air machines" were struck out, the resolution as submitted making it applicable to all aircraft.

Both Signor Schanzer and Admiral Debon desired the Conference to record its opposition to the bombardment of defenceless cities from the air, the latter citing the Hague Conventions as having already established the principle, but Mr. Elihu Root pointed out that these Conventions were directed only at land and naval bombardments and not specifically nor by implication at aircraft bombing.

Mr. Hughes advised the leaving of the whole question to a legal commission. Sir Robert Borden concurred but Mr. Balfour suggested that others should be included besides lawyers. This was agreed to.

NAVAL TREATY

(Reuter's Service)

The naval treaty as drafted by the experts is understood to forbid merchantmen of over 10,000 tons being converted into auxiliary naval craft in time of war. Ships of under 10,000 tons, would, if converted, come within the scope of the rule limiting armaments to guns of a maximum eight-inch calibre. The committee adopted substantially the subcommittee's report expressing the opinion that the limitation of aircraft in warfare would retard their commercial development.

The possibility that the question of the American marine in an international bearing may be submitted to the Conference, is indicated by the announcement made by Mr. Lasker, Chairman of the United States Shipping Board, who presented President Harding with a plan, proposing, amongst other things, an agreement on the theory that the merchant marine is indissolubly linked with the Navy, whereby American ships carry at least 50 percent of all American exports and also a definite understanding on the question of converting merchantmen in war-time.

CHINESE ENVOYS ENCOURAGED BY PEKING'S DENIAL

Members Of Delegation Suspicious, Despite Telegram

(Trans-Pacific News Service Exclusive To The China Press)

Washington, Jan. 9.—Telegrams from Peking denying that secret direct negotiations on the Shantung question have been going forward there have served to reassure the Chinese delegates, though members of the delegation still are suspicious.

The Chinese believe the Japanese hold an advantage over them in that if they like they can transfer the Shantung negotiations to Peking and for this reason the Chinese are remaining obdurate in the stand they have taken. The Japanese have indicated that they will not accept Anglo-American mediation and will resist any effort to bring Shantung into the Conference discussions.

Efforts to lift the deadlock on Shantung were resumed this afternoon when the entire Chinese delegation conferred first with Secretary of State Hughes and later with Mr. Balfour. Following a discussion of forty minutes Secretary Hughes and Mr. Alfred Sze stated that the conversation was altogether satisfactory and reassuring and that the good offices of the American Secretary of State could be counted on.

It was stated earlier in the day that Secretary Hughes was willing to mediate only if he is assured that such action will be agreeable to both sides. Although tonight the impression exists that America will content herself merely with an expression of hopeful interest for the settlement of the Shantung question it is reported also that America is urging Japan to desist in the effort to transfer the negotiations to Peking with the idea of obtaining there a settlement favorable to Japan.

The British contend that Japanese prestige in connection with the naval treaty is imperilled by her obstinacy in the Shantung affair. The Chinese have told Secretary Hughes and Mr. Balfour that the Japanese have refused flatly to accept the good offices of America and Britain in the controversy and are holding back awaiting further instructions from Tokio.

CHITA DELEGATES FEAR THEY ARE IN LOSING BATTLE

Hughes Thinks Siberian Issue Is Difficult Political Problem

(Trans-Pacific News Service Exclusive To The China Press)

Washington, Jan. 9.—Secretary of State Hughes offered the opinion today that the Siberian question presents a difficult political problem. He said if every effort is made to effect a settlement and it fails public blame will imperil the passage of the four-power treaty in the American Senate and if efforts to bring a settlement meet with rebuff from Japan much the same effect may be looked for.

It is reported that the Siberian delegation has begun to realise that it is fighting a losing battle. The Chita delegates have presented to the Conference a long memorandum presenting the case of the Far Eastern Republic asking for a hearing and for recognition

In connection with the aspirations of Chita much depends on the decision that will be taken at the Cannes Conference concerning recognition of the Russian soviet.

SIX NOMINEES THUS FAR FOR FRENCH COUNCIL

Six names have been mentioned thus far for the five vacancies on the French Municipal Council which are to be filled at the election next Tuesday.

Three French and two foreign members are to be named and in connection with the latter, effort is being made to elect an American to office, in view of the large and ever increasing number of American residents and property holders in the Concession. The American nominee is Mr. Max Shoop, of the New York law firm of Sullivan and Cromwell, who has been for some time a resident in Frenchtown. The other foreign nominee is Mr. M. Speelman, who is one of the retiring members of the municipal body. The French nominees are Messrs. A. Chapeau, also a retiring member who appears for re-election; Mr. P. Lebris, formerly chairman of the Council; Mr. A. Arnaud-Coste, of the firm of A. Arnaud-Coste and R. V. Dent, an old resident and a contender last year, and Mr. Thulasne, architect, of the firm of Dowdall and Read.

There is no outstanding issue to be fought out this year, such as the stand against the tramways and electric company of a twelvemonth ago, but since it is the policy of the Council to see that the agreement made by the public service company is carried out with the greatest possible despatch it is expected that there will be a strong showing of votes for the nominees who stand for re-election.

S. African Miners Vote For Walkout

(Reuter's Service)

Johannesburg, Jan. 10.—The Industrial Federation has endorsed the resolution in favor of an immediate strike, after rejecting the suggestion of the Chamber of Mines for a month's postponement of the strike in order to facilitate negotiations. General Smuts has warned the Labor Executive saying that if the mines were closed the public would regard the act as an outrage.

Brokers Charged With Sale Of Forged Exchange Script

Conspiracy to defraud the public by the issue of forged script of the Shanghai Silk and Cocoon Exchange was the charge brought against two Chinese brokers who appeared in the Mixed Court yesterday.

It is not known how many of the forged stock receipts have been put into circulation, but 150, at $25 each, have been turned in thus far. The police are trying to ascertain the place of origin of the bogus paper and the case was remanded one week to permit further investigation, the two defendants being admitted to $1,000 bail.

SHIPBUILDING SLUMPS

(Reuter's Service)

London, Jan. 9.—The world-wide depression in shipbuilding is reflected in Lloyd's returns showing that 2,600,000 merchant tonnage was under construction in the United Kingdom on December 31, including over 700,000 tons on which work had been suspended.

This was a reduction of over 600,000 tons as compared with September 30, but the tonnage launched had increased over 150,000 tons and the tonnage commenced had also slightly increased, for the first time since September, 1920.

OKUMA DEAD, JAPAN MOURNS

ment of constitutional government. Upon the reorganisation of the government under the Mikado he became Vice-Minister of the Department of Foreign Affairs and later became Minister of Finance, a post he held for ten years, resigning in 1881 as a consequence of a memorial he prepared urging the government to introduce representative government, a proposal that was rejected by his colleagues.

In 1882 he formed the Progressive party and became its President and six years later, in the year preceding the promulgation of the Constitution, he was appointed Foreign Minister under the Kuroda Cabinet when he undertook the important task of revising old treaties concluded with the powers.

Certain of Okuma's measures aroused much objection from opponents and Tsuneki Karushima, a misguided youth, threw a bomb at his carriage, inflicting injuries that made necessary the amputation of a leg.

In 1896 Okuma joined the second Matsukata Cabinet as Foreign Minister and Minister of Agriculture, but resigned the following year. In June of 1898 the Okuma Cabinet was formed and he assumed the Premiership with the added duties of Minister of Foreign Affairs.

This cabinet continued in existence only six months and though Okuma resigned the leadership of his party he remained active in politics and in public affairs generally. He was particularly successful as an educator and was founder of Waseda University, the largest university of the Japanese Empire under private management, and was president of this institution at the time of his death. Marquis Okuma also was a patron of the Women's University at Mejiro, Tokio.

On the overthrow of the Yamamoto Cabinet in consequence of the naval scandal of March, 1914 he reappeared suddenly in the political sphere as the organiser of a new Cabinet. He was made Premier and served also as Minister of Home Affairs, resigning from the latter post, however, in 1915. It was in recognition of his distinguished services to the state that he was created marquis in 1916 and at the same time he was decorated with the Grand Cordon of Chrysanthemum. He resigned from the Premiership in October, 1916, an occasion upon which special honors were paid to him.

Besides his many qualities as a statesman, educator and public figure, Marquis Okuma was author of a number of notable works included among which are "Fifty Years of New Japan," in English, "National Readers" and "Kaikokutsiseishi," which is a modern history of Japan. His chief recreation was the study and pursuit of horticulture and his collection of tropical plants, chiefly orchids, is perhaps the best in Japan.

Two small one-story houses in Chaoufoong Road, opposite Medhurst College, were badly damaged by fire early yesterday afternoon. Hongkew Division of the Fire Department found the buildings well alight on arrival, the blaze threatening other structures to the South. Quick work saved the adjoining buildings.

Shortly after 4:30 p.m. Yangtszepoo Watch Tower turned in an alarm which was responded to by the Eastern Division. It was found that two piles of rubbish at the corner of Dalny and Kwenming Roads were ablaze and the matter was handled with despatch and not much trouble.

Lumber Delivery Charges Increased

In November the Shanghai Lumber Delivery Coolie Guild intimated that their charges for delivery of lumber within the limits of the International and French Settlements would shortly be raised by 50 percent, that is, from 3 percent to 4½ percent on value.

The China Import and Export Lumber Company now advise that arrangements have been arrived at whereby these charges have been increased from 3 percent to 3½ percent. For lumber delivered from depots by the purchasers' own carts or trucks the charge for taking off stacks and loading has been increased from 1.6 percent to 1.8 percent, the increases to become effective February 1.

Indo-China's Rice Exports Increase

(French Wireless through Reuter)

Paris, Jan. 9.—A cable from the Governor of French Indo-China states that the export of rice from the port of Saigon alone for 1921 amounted to the unprecedented total of 1,517,000 tons. Previous to 1921 the most favorable year was 1918 when the export of rice amounted to 1,443,000 tons.

Proposal For Reshaping Of Entente Meets With Favor

(Reuter's Service)

Paris, Jan. 9.—The idea which was born at the Cannes Conference of reshaping the Entente Cordiale on the basis of a formal defensive pact is received everywhere with great favor as heralding a wellnigh everlasting peace in Europe.

The arrival of a delegation of the British Legion yesterday at Nantes on a visit to their French comrades was the occasion of a great manifestation of Franco-British mutual goodwill and sympathy. In the course of a speech, Major Dudley Taylor, the President of the Interallied Federation, stated that no cloud must ever hang over Franco-British friendship and that the British people would stand by their ally under any circumstances.

Telegrams urging the conclusion of the alliance were sent to M. Briand and Mr. Lloyd George.

BERLIN ACCEPTS BID

Berlin, Jan. 9.—The Cabinet has decided to accept the Supreme Council's invitation to send a delegation to Paris. The delegation will be headed by Dr. Walther Rathenau.

LENIN MAY ATTEND

Cannes, Jan. 9.—Lenin has accepted the invitation to the Genoa Conference and will attend personally if the situation permits. Otherwise he will appoint plenipotentiaries.

PREMIERS CONFER

Cannes, Jan. 9.—Mr. Lloyd George and M. Briand again conferred last evening, discussing among other things Anglo-French relations. With regard to an Anglo-French Alliance, the British point of view is that what is needed is an European agreement guaranteeing peace on the lines of the Pacific pact. France seeks additionally definite guarantees against German aggression. Both sides are anxious to settle all differences with a view to the avoidance of misunderstandings in regard to reparations.

It is now proposed that Germany shall pay £35,000,000 in cash and £87,000,000 in kind, making a total of £122,000,000, that is £28,000,000 less than was originally arranged. She shall also pay £12,000,000 for the armies of occupation.

Great Britain is ready to forego £7,000,000 respecting her occupation forces. The conditions to be imposed on Germany include the collection of Customs on a gold basis, the increase of railway and postal rates and of the price of coal, restrictions on the issue of paper money, the balancing of the budget and currency reform.

ANGLO-FRENCH UNITY

Paris, Jan. 9.—A French semi-official telegram from Cannes dealing with the Anglo-French conversations and the guarantee question says it is understood that the negotiations have chiefly in mind the realisation of an agreement mutually guaranteeing against unprovoked German aggression. It is believed that the two Powers would undertake to lend one another military, naval and aerial assistance to a minimum not yet determined, France making an effort on land and Great Britain on sea.

Belgium apparently will be asked to join in the agreement. The telegram says that with the assurance of the assistance of the British fleet, France will be able to adopt her naval building program to the new conditions.

The telegram further suggests that a related plan is now being considered for a treaty to be signed by all the Powers of Europe, engaging to abstain from aggression against their neighbors, but owing to their complexity, it may be impossible finally to conclude the agreements at the present sitting.

SOOCHOW CROWD SEES STONE FOR NEW CHURCH LAID

Methodist Edifice, When Completed, Will Be Worth $50,000

(China Press Correspondence)

Soochow, Jan. 5.—A large crowd was present at the laying of the cornerstone for the new church on Kong Haung Street yesterday. This building and furnishings are to cost over $50,000 when complete. The work is under the direction of the Southern Methodist Mission and most of the money for this undertaking was appropriated by the Board of Missions of the Southern Methodist Church as part of the Centenary contributions for Soochow. It has been the policy of this Mission to do extensive work in this section and the church will be a credit to the work.

The church is centrally located and is easily accessible from any part of the city. The foreign community evidenced their interest by turning out in large numbers in honor of the occasion.

Work by the Southern Methodist Mission was opened some thirty years ago at this center. At first a school was opened for the sons of the gentry and later when the school was moved to East Soochow this center was taken over for an evangelistic center. The old church and school house stood on part of the present site and a Chinese house on the remaining part of the land.

In the summer of 1920 the old buildings were demolished and the material used to construct a semi-foreign house, which is used as a parsonage for the Chinese pastor. This left a plot of ground about 10,000 feet in area to be used for the new church building.

The new church is among the new buildings planned by Mr. Joel E. Black of the Southern Methodist Architectural Bureau, located at 20 Museum Road, Shanghai. The ground floor has practically 7,000 feet of floor space, and will afford a lecture room to accommodate 350, a general office, reading room, game room, kindergarten, service kitchen, domestic science kitchen and two rooms to be used as offices for the social workers of the women's department of the church.

The second floor is the same area and affords an auditorium, seating 350 with the possibility of later enlarging it to accommodate 1,500. Besides these accommodations there are eight rooms to be used by the two departments as class rooms and class rooms. The third floor is given over to a roof garden and balcony. The roof garden will seat 800.

A cement stucco finish will be used on the exterior in order to carry out the semi-Spanish mission type of architecture. This will give the building a striking appearance as well as blending it with the surroundings.

Americans Want Classical Music

New York.—Is America tiring of "jazz" music, as American popular music is termed?

That is a question which is engaging the attention of theatrical men and professional musicians, as well as the amusement seeking public in general as a result of the announcement of Oscar Radin, conductor of "Blossom Time," a musical show based on incidents in the life of Franz Schubert, the celebrated composer, that his orchestra would play Schubert's celebrated "Unfinished" Symphony as entr'acte music at the performances of the play.

Mr. Radin states that it is the result of popular demand, for several strains from the symphony are employed as themes for the musical accompaniment of the operetta. Many of Schubert's songs are sung during the action of the piece, including "Serenade" and others.

Koopun Soap Works Figures In Action At The Mixed Court

The Koopun Soap Works, which figured more or less extensively in the work of the bureau handling enemy property toward the conclusion of the war was again a factor of dispute in a Tls. 220,000 case which has just been concluded in the Mixed Court.

The action was brought by the Societa Italo Oriental through Gustav Boehm, agent, against one Chang Yung-kong, it being claimed that the latter between March 1919 and November 1921 misappropriated Tls. 220,000 worth of goods, merchandise, machinery and sundries, etc. The case came before Italian Assessor Ferrajoio and Magistrate Tsang.

After two adjourned hearings Mr. J. Em. Lemiere announced to the Court that the matter had been settled outside and Mr. G. D. Musso handed in copies of an agreement signed by the parties and asked that this be countersigned and approved by the bench.

The agreement, dated January 9, sets forth that all counts between Gustav Boehm and Chang Yung-kong have been satisfactorily adjusted through the payment by the latter of the sum of Tls. 70,000—Tls. 50,000 on signature of the agreement and two subsequent installments of Tls. 10,000 each to be made on February 15 and March 10.

It is agreed that Chang shall remain sole owner of Boehm's rights, title and interest in the Koopun Soap Works, with the rights and privileges appertaining thereto, but that Chang is to manufacture no more goods bearing Boehm's trademark or hong name. Chang is to be permitted to use the existing stocks up to March 31, 1923.

New Co-educational School To Be Opened

A new coeducational school, known as the Chung Hua Public School, is shortly to be opened at the corner of Paoting and Chung Hsin Roads, Chapei, the entrance examinations being scheduled to take place from January 15 to 21.

The new institution was founded by a group of Chinese educational promoters, Mr. W. C. Chu, former principal of the Shan Kung School of the Commercial Press, taking a leading part.

The school, it is announced, will consist of two departments, the lower and higher primary and the lower and higher secondary schools, its discipline and system of management are to conform to resolutions passed at the seventh convention of the National Eudcational Committee, held in Canton last year. The teaching of English is to be stressed and the self-governing group system for physical, intellectual and moral training will be encouraged. In this connection courses in citizenship, public speaking and parliamentary law will be opened.

FLU EPIDEMIC IN ENGLAND IS WORSE THAN 1920

Death Total For Week Greater, Although Cases Are Fewer

(French Wireless through Reuter)

London, Jan. 9.—The influenza epidemic in Great Britain is apparently subsiding, although there are still many cases in London and elsewhere. The disease itself is mild but the after-effects are dangerous. There were 418 deaths and 1,235 cases of pneumonia last week, as compared with 392 and 1,770 respectively during the worst week of the epidemic in March 1920.

Gen. Tanaka To Visit Philippines

(Eastern News Agency)

Tokio, Jan. 10.—General Tanaka, ex-Minister of War, was ordered today to proceed to the Philippines. It is expected he will depart about the latter part of this month. General Tanaka's visit is to return courtesies to General Wood, new Governor of Philippines, who visited Japan some time ago, and to inspect the condition of the islands.

Prince Of Wales Feted At Rangoon

(Reuter's Service)

Rangoon, Jan. 9.—The Prince of Wales has arrived at Rangoon from Mandalay, after a visit crowded with oriental splendor and hearty enthusiasm. His Royal Highness quite captured the hearts of the Burmese, even the poor lepers sending a message of loyal greeting.

Today, the Prince attended a Burmese regatta on the Royal Lakes, embarking on a wonderful Karweik Paung or Royal barge, bearing a green and golden pandal. His Royal Highness saw some quaint aquatic sports, also some Burmese boxing, in which the victory seemed to be with the combatant who jumped, twisted and shouted the most.

The illuminations at night were a scene of fairy-like wonderment. Seven miles of the lake shores were lit up by 120,000 Chinese lanterns, lamps and huge colored flags on Crow Island, which threw up half of Rangoon in lambent glory. Tomorrow the Prince of Wales sails for Madras.

CONSTANTINE'S BACKER VISITING BRITISH CAPITAL

Sir Basil Zaharoff, Paris Banker, Called Europe's 'Mystery Man'

London, Dec. 10.—A mystery man, supposed to pull the invisible strings by which puppet kings are seated or unseated, and to have a hand in almost every European intrigue, is paying a brief visit to London.

Incidentally he has just been photographed publicly for the first time in years, if not for the first time in his life. The photograph discloses a white goateed gentleman of seventy-one, somewhat resembling a slightly portly Buffalo Bill; black-clothed and distinguished-looking.

"Who's Who" gives him as Sir Basil Zaharoff, G, B. E. (Knight Grand Cross of the British Empire) holder of the grand cross of the French Legion of Honor, and a banker of Paris.

Popular report gives this Anglo-French-Grecian-Russian holder of a British knighthood and the highest class of the Legion of Honor credit for being the man who put King Constantine back on his throne, financed a couple of Greek wars and who, anytime he gets a new idea, visits the proper premier and "puts it across."

Sir Basil was born of a Russian father and a Greek mother. He is French by nationality and English by education. He is at home in London, Paris Athens, Madrid and Monte Carlo. He can go to any European capital and tell the ordinary resident things about the city.

Sir Basil's wealth is estimated at anything from $100,000,000 up. It is probably "up," as he owns all sorts of property, from theaters to half of Monte Carlo. He controls an army of banks and armament firms. He is supposed to be financing bankrupt governments one day, influencing cabinets the next. He entertains lavishly and gives as lavishly, though he is a business man whose touch is apparently Midas-like. He gave $2,500,000 a year to the Greek government during the Balkan wars, and is supposed to have financed Constantine in his return to the throne.

The present visit to England has been connected with the crisis in Greek affairs following the attempt to crush Turkey. If Greek ministers now here to negotiate a loan are successful, it will be Sir Basil they may thank.

THE NEW MYSTERIOUS FACTOR-IN-FOOD.

Science discovers that thousands suffer from lack of one vital element in their food.

A CERTAIN mysterious element in food called VITAMINE! Science has established that our store of energy and even health itself depend upon it.

One of America's most eminent physiological chemists says: "Long continued general debility follows the continued ingestion of food containing too little of this vitamine."

Primitive man secured an abundance of vitamine from his raw foods and green leafy vegetables. But modern diet, refined and modified, has often been deprived of much of the water-soluble vitamine. That is why so many seemingly well-fed people are slowly lowering their vitality from day to day without knowing it.

The richest source of the precious water-soluble vitamine is—yeast, just yeast!

To get enough of this vitamine so essential to health thousands are already eating Fleischmann's Yeast, and are finding new stores of health and energy, and a vigor unknown for years. Physicians and hospitals are prescribing it to stimulate the appetite, help digestion and gradually take the place of laxatives.

Eat Fleischmann's Yeast before or between meals—from 1 to 3 cakes a day. It has a rich cream-cheesy consistency and distinctive flavor you will like. Nibble it from the cake or spread it with butter on crackers, toast or bread. Only one precaution: If troubled with gas, dissolve yeast first in boiling water.

Colds are mainly the result of a lowered Vitality. Fleisamann's Yeast stimulates your resistance and helps digest the increased food which the appetite demands. The Bakerite Bakery, 36 Nanking Road, is using it in all their breads and beginning January 10, 1922, have arranged for the continued importation of it in cold storage and can supply it fresh in limited quantities.

ZIONIST SOCIETY PAYS TRIBUTE TO LATE MR. EZRA

At the meeting of the Zionist Association of Shanghai held yesterday at the Ahduth Club, Rabbi Hirsch, who presided, mentioned the great loss that the Association had suffered by the death of Mr. Edward Ezra, who was head of the Zionist Association in 1903 and had supported the Zionist movement wholeheartedly. When Mr. Israel Cohen, the Zionist envoy, visited Shanghai Mr. Ezra subscribed a thousand pounds, and, as far as the speaker knew, was instrumental in getting others—at least two—in subscribing an equal sum. The late Mr. Edward Ezra, he said, was a staunch Zionist.

Mr. N. E. B. Ezra, in adding his tribute to the memory of the deceased, spoke of the work performed for the Zionist cause by Mr. Edward Ezra. Although he worked for only one year as President of the Association he had left it in a flourishing and prosperous condition, and laid the foundation for the movement in Shanghai very firmly. He also took a leading part in the Literary Circle and presided at their meetings, and once read a very interesting paper. He had felt that Zionism was the only solution to the Jewish problem, and did everything to help the Zionist cause.

The following resolution, proposed by the chairman and seconded by Mr. Nissim was passed, those present standing in silence:

"That this meeting of the Shanghai Zionist Association profoundly deplores the lamentable death of Mr. Edward Ezra and feels that in his death the Association has been deprived of a valuable and ardent supporter; one who by his ceaseless energy had contributed much to the promotion of Zionism in China. That this meeting expresses its profound and heartfelt sympathy with and offers its sincere condolence to Mrs. Ezra and her two sons in their irreparable bereavement."

The Chairman then read a copy of the report sent by Mr. Israel Cohen of the doings of the last Zionist Congress at Carlsbad. Mr. Cohen represented the local Association at the Congress.

The meeting placed on record its unabated confidence in the new Executive of the World Zionist Organisation and pledged to support them by every means in its power.

Cotton On Lighters Breaks Into Blaze; Believed Incendiary

One hundred and fifty bales of press-packed American cotton were more or less damaged in a fire which broke out on two native lighting off Whangpoo Wharf at 6:45 o'clock last night. The blaze was discovered by boatmen, and three jets from the steamer Kinto Maru held it under fair control until the arrival of the Yangtszepoo division of the Shanghai Fire Brigade. The cotton was in the course of transhipment to Tientsin. It is the property of Messrs. A. B. Rosenfeld and Son. The monetary loss was not considerable. The cause of the fire was not learned, though it was believed to have been incendiary, perhaps to cover up a theft of some of the cotton.

Another fire call was received at the Central District station at 5:30. The blaze, which had been discovered in a chimney in a Chinese shop at No. 90 Szechuen Road, was extinguished by the inmates before the arrival of the five machines. It was the second outbreak on the premises in 48 hours.

Church Survey Is Nearing End

Representatives of Protestant churches in Great Britain and America are nearing the end of a country-wide religious and educational survey of China, which began four months ago. The representatives include ten from China, seven from America and one from Great Britain. Many of the overseas members will sail for America on January 25.

The investigators were sent to China by the Foreign Missions Conference of America and the similar body of Great Britain.

Am'n Trading Co. Defeat 'Y' At Basketball, 75-13

Easily Pile Up High Score By All Around Superior Playing

The American Trading Company five beat the Y.M.C.A. team in last night's sole Foreign League basketball match by the wide score of 75-13. The game was one-sided throughout, due to better all around basketball by the Trading company men.

Nichols scored twelve baskets from the floor and another from a free throw. Smith added 26 points with 13 clean baskets. Tinkham counted 14 points, and Nelson and Young eight and two respectively.

The "Y" team showed flashes of good play. Bartlett, Vanhook and Roberts especially were in the game. But their five lacked the necessary aggressive tactics and co-operation as a team to count up the points.

The score follows:

N. Y. GIANTS BUY BABE RUTH OF PACIFIC COAST

Record Price For Minor League Star Given For O'Connell Of 'Frisco

Buffalo, Dec. 7.—Not content with the acquisition of Heinie Groh, third sacker of the Cincinnati Reds, at a record price of $75,000 and two players John J. McGraw swung another big deal today which caused a sensation at the Minor League conference. McGraw purchased Jim O'Connell from the San Francisco Seals for $75,000, the highest price ever given for a minor league player. No other athletes were involved in the deal, according to Manager McGraw. O'Connell will not report to the Giants until after the close of the Pacific Coast season of 1922.

O'Connell is a left-handed hitter and thrower, and is the Babe Ruth of the Pacific Coast. It is believed that the short rightfield stand at the Polo Grounds will be made to order for him, and that when he arrives in the big town he will swat many a homer into the seats. He cracked all kinds of pitching this last season, piling up an average of .335 or thereabouts. He is fast, big and built along the lines favored by McGraw.

It is only a couple of years since O'Connell was cavorting in the college ranks. The San Francisco Seals got him before the 1920 season from Santa Clara University. He was used in the outer garden in 1920, but last season was transferred to first base.

INVITATIONS OUT FOR DAVIS CUP MATCHES IN 1922

The first step in arrangements for the Davis Cup matches of 1922 has been taken by the United States Lawn Tennis Association, which has sent letters to nations that have competed for this trophy in the past, inviting their challenges for next year's contest. These must be received before March 15. The letter to the British Lawn Tennis Association, signed by Julian S. Myrick as president of the U. S. L. T. A. is similar to those sent the other countries, and is quoted herewith:

"It again is the duty of the United States to take charge of the arrangements for the Davis Cup contest and plans are being considered for the matches of 1922. This association earnestly hopes that all the nations interested in tennis will enter the competition and is bringing the matter to your attention thus early, to afford time for your association to plan for the event.

"Under the regulations as amended at the meeting in London on June 27, 1921, challenges must be received by the champion nation not later than March 15. Will you please take notice of this date and make certain that your challenge is despatched by mail or by cable to reach this office before March 15, 1922?

"Judging from letters received since the completion of the 1921 matches, this contest has aroused more widespread interest throughout the world than ever before. This makes it the more appropriate to point out again the fundamental service the Davis Cup contests can perform in stimulating still further the friendly rivalry and good feeling between the tennis playing nations of the world. To accomplish this result it seems desirable that each contest should, whenever possible, be played in the country of one of the competing nations. Such action will lend interest to the various nations' schedules by providing an international match, will tend to lessen the expense of traveling and will best serve the purpose for which this competition was established. It is the recommendation of this association, therefore, that an earnest effort be made by all competing nations to play at least their early matches in one or the other's country.

"This association would be pleased to receive a challenge from England, and I trust that it will be forthcoming, in time for receipt here before March 15, 1922. If there is further information you desire, please request it by mail or cable."

ENGLISH ASS'N WILL BAR WOMEN FROM FOOTBALL

London, Dec. 10.—Determined efforts are being made by the Football Association, which is the ruling body of the Professional Association of Football, to bar women from playing this game. They have refused requests made by women to play on the fields on the ground that the game is "quite unsuitable for females."

The decision has caused a widespread protest on the part of English women, who are entering more and more the field of men's sports and cannot recognise that there are limits to the possibilities of their getting healthful exercise.

Supporting the feminine side are many women physicians who say that the game is not injurious as long as women play together and not against men's teams. The division in the controversy is decidedly according to sex, all women favoring it and all men denouncing it.

English women are ahead of their American sisters in sports, especially football and hockey, which they play strenuously.

Ten Nations Are Represented On Am'n Soccer Team

Springfield, Mass., Dec. 10.—Lafayette, with three foreign players on its soccer eleven, claims the distinction of possessing an "international," soccer team, and Springfield College, with four foreign players, goes it one better, but these claims fade into insignificance when compared with that of the American International College, of this city, on whose varsity soccer squad thirteen foreign nationalities are represented.

On this truly cosmopolitan aggregation are natives of Spain, Lithuania, Russia, Poland, Palestine, Jamaica, Armenia, Greece, Turkey, Italy, Brazil, Argentina, Albania and Denmark.

Princeton Plans To Honor Hockey Star

Princeton, N. J., Dec. 2.—A movement is on foot here to have Princeton's new $40,000 indoor ice rink named in honor of Hobey Baker, the greatest of Tiger hockey stars who made the supreme sacrifice in France in the world war.

Baker, captain of the 1914 eight, was probably the most brilliant and famous luminary the sport has ever known, and Princeton's new imposing ice palace would be a fitting memorial to his noteworthy services, both to Old Nassau and his country.

U. Of Minnesota Plans To Oust All Its Coaches

Would Institute Entirely New Athletic Regime With But One Director

Minneapolis, Dec. 9.—Cancellation of contracts of all athletic coaches at the University of Minnesota at the end of the current year, or as the contracts expire in the meantime, was decided upon by the Athletic Board of Control at a meeting late today. The appointment of a Director of Athletics was also recommended. The action of the board is subject to review by the university Board of Regents, which is expected to pass upon the matter next Tuesday.

Coaches affected by the decision are Dr. Henry L. Williams, football; Dr. L. J. Cooke, basketball; Leonard Frank, track and cross-country; Nells Thorpe, swimming, and Frank Gilman, wrestling.

This action follows the recommendation of the Board of Directors of the university's General Alumni Association, published today in the Alumni Weekly, which urged the termination of contracts, and also drastic changes in the athletic system.

Dr. Williams, whose dismissal is urged, is a Yale graduate and has been in charge of football here for twenty-two years. He is credited with originating and developing the "Minnesota shift," one of the first radical changes in the game which followed the abandonment of mass plays. Alumni and student critics of Dr. Williams in the recent controversy have asserted that the coach concentrated so much on development of plays based on the shift that the squad was not taught football fundamentals and defensive tactics.

The attitude of Professor James Paige as virtual head of the athletic department has long been under fire more or less critical, his opponents urging that a man more experienced in athletics be selected in his stead.

In the last two years Minnesota has lost ten of her twelve "Big Ten" Conference football games. In the twenty-two years Williams has been at Minnesota the Gophers have won 112, lost 30 and tied 7 games, with strictly Conference games showing 47 won, 27 lost and 5 tied.

In that period Minnesota has a good margin of victories over its principal rivals except Michigan, which has won 5 and tied 1, against 1 victory for Minnesota.

DR. T. B. RAY GIVES TALK TO COLLEGE MEN

"Two men in America are more interested in the development of Shanghai College than any others," said President White, of Shanghai College, in Chapel a few days ago, "and one of these two is Doctor Ray, whom I have now the pleasure of introducing to the students."

This is Doctor Ray's last visit to China, though he has been the Foreign Secretary of the Southern Baptist Board for nearly 15 years. His visit to the college at this time is full of meaning and interest, because the Southern Baptist Board, which was thought to be near the point of breaking altogether with the work of the college, has just resolved to back up the institution with a large amount of money and to send out a strong contingent of men and women to teach and take part in its administration. Within the last few months the Board has designated five new missionaries and appropriated $200,000 Mexican to the funds of the institution.

Doctor T. B. Ray is a graduate of Georgetown College, Kentucky, of the class of 1895, and of the Louisville Theological Seminary. He was pastor of the Baptist church in Nashville, Tenn., for nine years, and then went to Richmond, Va., as foreign secretary. He is the author of some widely read books on the missions of the denomination, his "Brazilian Sketches" being especially noteworthy. Doctor Ray, is accompanied by his wife and daughter, and they are planning to spend some months in China, visiting the four missions of the denomination, in North China, in Honan, in Canton, as well as the work in and around Shanghai and Soochow.

The Southern Baptist missions have all along given the greatest emphasis to direct preaching of the gospel. They have, however, built up strong Middle Schools in all of their missions in China, examples of which are the Ming Jang Boys School and the Eliza Yates Girls' High School on North Szechuen Road. The Southern Baptists have been joint partners with the Northern Baptists from the beginning in Shanghai College, Doctor R. T. Bryan of Shanghai being one of the founders and also the first president of the Theological Seminary connected with the College. There are approximately 25,000 Christians, members of Southern Baptist Churches in China, besides 6,000 of the Northern Baptist missions, who form the Christian constituency of the College.

ADDRESSES STUDENTS

"It is impossible," said Doctor Ray in part, "to express my great pleasure and devout thankfulness to God for this long looked for privilege of seeing not only these fine buildings but especially this splendid student body. The students are the institution. The question I wish to bring you this morning is, "Are you fellows going to invest your lives for the good of your country?"

He told of the first Baptist missionary to China, who as a lad heard a missionary address, and then and there gave himself for preaching the gospel in China. "Are you going to let this foreigner do more for your country than you will do yourselves? What are you going to do with your life? There are two kinds of lives. The one is like a sponge, that takes in all it can. Such a person thinks that he lives for his own good. The other is like a light, which gives out, and lives for others. Life in school is real life, not simply preparation for life. The men who have been in close touch with you in school can predict what you are going to be."

Lack Of Funds Cause Return Of Delegates From America

our important meetings and were given an opportunity of expressing their views. The direct parley over the Shantung Question was brought about by the fear on the part of Secretary of State Hughes that this quesion might precipitate serious frictions between the Chinese and Japanese delegates if it had been abruptly brought before the Conference, and when the parley began it was understood to be in the nature of preliminary discussions while in the final stage the Conference was to give its verdict on the issue.

PROPAGANDA DISAPPOINTS

"The delegates were disappointed over the atmosphere created by propagandists at Washington which misled the Americans into believing that China would gain very much from the Conference, whereas when the so-called gains were analyzed China has really obtained nothing substantial. The chief delegate gave the impression that they were viewing the ultimate results of the conference with optimism. It is a fact that newspapermen have not been admitted to all the discussions and Dr. Koo, when returning from the conference was besieged by interviewers representing the press."

Asked with regard to the report of the sensational message which characterised the resignation of Dr. Philip Tyau from the delegation and whether it was true that some of the delegates were so leisurely that they were mere sightseers at Washington, our representative was told that the report about Dr. Philip Tyau was correct while in the case of certain delegates, such as those representing China's naval and military interests, their services were not called for in the sense that these interests were not likely to become a subject of thorough discussion at the conference.

To the question whether any open attack has been made by Dr. Ma Soo, representative of the Southern Government, upon the Chinese Delegation, the answer was "No."

SEATTLE MAYOR HEADS SHRINERS ON TRIP TO EAST

Mr. Hugh M. Caldwell, Illustrious Potentate of Nile Temple of the Mystic Shrine, who will head the prominent body of Shriners sailing for he Far East by the Keystone State on January 14, is also mayor of Seattle and will come to ports in this part of the world empowered by his city's commercial organisations and government to extend Seattle's felicitations to the municipalities which the delegation will visit.

Mayor Caldwell served as a major in the army during the war and is the youngest mayor ever to hold office in Seattle. He is an attorney by profession and has been prominent in Masonic work for years.

The Shriners will visit in Japan, China and the Philippines, putting on an elaborate ceremonial in Manila and officiating also in ceremonials here. Nomad Oasis here is making preparations for their reception.

NOTICE

Notice is hereby given that, contrary to statement published in local papers from December 10th to December 17th, 1921, the co-partnership of Struthers & Barry is not a successor of Struthers & Dixon, Inc. Struthers & Barry have only succeeded to the steamship services formerly operated by Struthers & Dixon, Inc., through re-allocation by the U. S. Shipping Board of the vessels employed.

Effective December 1st, 1921, the undersigned purchased from Struthers & Dixon, Inc., its offices at Yokohama, Kobe, Shanghai, Hongkong and Manila, taking over the personnel at each office, and at the same time being appointed General Agent for Struther & Barry for the Philippine Islands, China and Japan, in which territory their business will be conducted in their name by my respective offices.

Mr. W. B. Lunt, appointed Acting General Agent by me as of December 1st, 1921, is no longer in my employ, and effective as of January 9th, 1922, the power of attorney held by him has been withdrawn.

Tuchun Sorry For Arrest Of Danes

(China Press Correspondence)

Hankow, Jan. 6.—Tuchun Hsiao Yao-nan of Wuchang has instructed the Commissioner for Foreign Affairs of Hankow to offer an official explanation of the alleged outrage on five Danish business men from Hankow who were put into a Chinese military prison at Hanyang while on a shooting excursion in the neighborhood of the Hanyang Government Arsenal.

According to a petition from Yang Wen-kai, director-general of the Hanyang Arsenal, to General Hsiao, the region near the Arsenal and bordering the Tang Lake at Hanyang have always been under martial law. For fear of explosions or other violent accidents happening near the powder factory shooting in that area is strictly forbidden. This was duly communicated to the various consuls at Hankow by General Tuan Chi-kwei when he was Tuchun in Hupeh, and therefore foreigners in this center are under obligation to observe Chinese law in this respect.

Russian Soviet Drops 'Comrade'

Moscow.—The "citizen" and "citizeness," of the French revolution, have replaced the universal "Comrade," of the early days of the Bolshevik revolution, as formal mode of address in Moscow.

"Comrade" (tavarischtch) is now used only by Communists or Socialists towards some one known to be a Communist or Socialist.

The old "gaspodin" of pre-war days, the real Russian word for Mister, is still tabooed, however. Drotshky drivers are the only ones who are ever heard using it, and they, only occasionally and in speaking to foreigners.

The public at large, non-Bolshevik or Bolshevik, have adopted "grazhdan" or "grazhdanka" (citizen and citizeness) in lieu of Mister and Miss, both in speech and in addressing letters.

Jap Steamers To Navigate Yangtsze

(China Press Correspondence)

Hankow, Jan. 6.—A Japanese freight and passenger service will be inaugurated in the world-famed Yangtsze Gorges in Szechuen Province between Ichang and Chungking, three steamers having been planned for the Ichang-Chungking line by a big Japanese shipping company. Ting Tien and Hsin Tih have been built by the Kiangnan Dock Yard at Shanghai, and the third one is being built there. The service will begin next April when the river above Ichang is high enough to admit of steamer navigation.

Exchange Fluctuations

Asia Banking Corporation

January 10, 1922

Spot bar silver was up ⅝d. and forward ⅝d. in London yesterday.

The New York price advanced to 66¼ cents, and the London-New York cross rate to 422.

The official Sterling rate today was raised to 3-7, the Gold Dollar rate to 75½, the Rupee rate to 269¾, the Franc rate dropped to 925 and the Yen rate dropped to 63½.

The market, while opening steady, eased off during the day.

At the opening there were sellers of Sterling at 3-7 for January, 3-6¼ for February and 3-6 for March.

There were Gold Dollar sellers at 75⅝ for January, 74½ for February and 73½ for March.

However, during the rest of the day there were no sellers of Sterling for January at better than 3-6¾, for February at 3-6 and for March at 3-5⅝. There were Gold Dollar sellers at 75 for January, 74 for February and 73½ for March.

In spite of the rise in the cross rate in New York yesterday, the Gold Dollar market was easier than the Sterling market, most people being of the opinion apparently that the rise in the cross rate would not be sustained.

India and China bought silver in London yesterday, and the market there is reported as being firm.

New York, however, report their market as being on the easy side, with sellers at the official quotation.

The Pacific Conference A Failure?

BY HUGH W. WHITE

UNLESS the unexpected happens, and that right soon, the Pacific Conference, so nobly conceived, seems destined to end in failure. So far as we can judge from the papers, the real crux of the situation seems not to be understood. The prime question is, not navies, but autocracy. Japan is by all means in her power keeping out of sight the root of all the trouble, her seizing of neighboring countries. No one asks the great question, "Why is she doing it?" Her professed object, providing for her surplus population goes unchallenged. But a glance shows that what she really aims at is the sinews of war, Japan has not the men, the grain, the coal, the iron to fight America, Canada, Australia, and France—for Indo-China might be drawn in. But Formosa, Korea, Manchuria, and especially China, would provide all these.

A special feature, which Washington seems not to have even thought of, is the Lan-Hai Railway. We, the men in the street, do not know where the money for this road is coming from. Before the war we were told that Russia was financing it, then some said Belgium, and others France. After the war a report came out that Japan had taken it over. This was denied. But somebody is pushing it, and even more since the war than before. There may be question as to who is building it, but there can be no question that if Japan finally gets China, she will get this road also.

Now what does this mean? China's limitless resources of coal and iron lie in Honan, Shansi, right along this road. And besides the road will traverse the vast inland grain fields. Note where this road is to reach the sea. Haichow is close to Tsingtao, and Germany had already projected a branch of this railway from Hsuchoufu direct to that port. This road will put China's Sarre Valley right in Japan's lap.

Another point forgotten at Washington is religion, not in its moral aspect, but on the political side. But Japan does not forget. For years she has been putting money into Buddhism, not that she cares for the gods, but because through it she can hold down her own masses and shoulder out Christianity with its freedom and democratic ideals. And further in the Twenty-One Demands, she claimed the right to propagate Buddhism in China. What does that mean? Preaching Buddhist doctrines? Opening Buddhist schools? Only in so far as she can use such schools for political purposes. Her propagation of Buddhism is chiefly unseen. Look at the old temples and pagodas suddenly being rebuilt by the autocratic pro-Japanese men like Chang Chin-yao and others. Japan is getting her grip on this whole Buddhist system with its millions of adherents, adept in every secret intrigue. Through them she hopes to control China.

If the great fight between autocracy and democracy is to be averted, it must be done by freeing China of the Japanese shackles.

Ah, Ha!

So mine enemy, thou hast found me.

Very well. Then lay on thou tough,

And let him be hanged that first cries hold enough.

So "Larry" calls me to order. He accuses me in some paper known to the populace as THE EVENING STAR of saying that his jokes either are original of good.

Mine enemy the accusation is false.

Let me retract at once. They are not new. They are not original. For my dear chappie there is nothing new under the Sun. There is nothing really original.

Let THE STAR claim to be the most original sheet that ever sheeted; let Larry shout that his lines are the line-e-o-typist that were ever linotyped; it makes little difference. Had he lived in the B. C. period he might have got away with it; but today if he does, then I'll "Chin Chin" him.

You challenge me in the case of war to "trot out the ammunition." Good Sir! I take powder and shot. The last powder I faced was Talcum, and the last "shot" I had was certainly in response to the question "What'll you have?"

VENUS PA SEZ

The Star twinkles before the Sun goes down, and that is against all the laws of astromony.

MARS PA SEZ

Chin Chin! We're fresh! Say Larry you're like The Star!

And, say Larry, I don't like the word odious! It's beastly, awfully, bally silly to compare yourself with me. You seem to claim goodness and originality. I claim neither. My colyum is as old as the hills. Those old hills turn out the gems! (Fie.! Mistress Modesty!)

My dear fellah! my jokes are not new. They never have been new. My old pal Shakespeare will tell you that to be up-to-date is to be out of date.

Johnson—not Jack Johnson—had a punch with his pen. He said that the man who thinks that he is good or original is both—but he added that it was quite possible that there happened to be some perverse folk who were not in agreement.

Come along Larry and lay on!

When THE EVENING STAR twinkles against all the laws of nature it is time for me to say in the words of my dear old friend "The Bard:"

My way of life has fallen into the sere and yellow leaf,
And that which should accompany
old age
As honor, love, obedience, troops of friends,
I cannot hope to have!
And Larry, let thy news be new
as new,
And let thy "Chin Chin" be as welcome as home brew
I cannot help but feel that on the hip
I have thee, Larry,
And so, Hip, Hip!
(Boy! Some of Larry's Bromides for Larry.)

Gabriele d'Annunzio: Unmask Europe At Washington Conference United States Should Go Slow In Disarming: Admiral Von Tirpitz

"Today America Re-establishes And Reinforces Its Real And Ideal Foundations. I Do Not Think the Conference Can Dissolve Imminent Problems Or Tremendous Dangers, But It Will Have Accomplished A Work Of Incalculable Efficiency By Putting Europe In Front Of Her Own Faults."

BY GABRIELE D'ANNUNZIO

(Foremost Poet, Dramatist, Soldier, Aviator And Popular Leader in Italy)

Milan, Italy, Nov. 26.—The race drama commencing in Washington, the most extraordinary ever undertaken by a great human force over the table of destiny, is at the cross-roads of fate.

It seems that the conference hall is roofless and that the free breath of the ocean penetrates to heighten the spirits and tear the veil of empty phrasing from the mouths of the delegates.

The grandeur of protagonists and antagonists seems to have been elevated by the vital necessity of the moment, and they are as though mounted, like the ancient tragedians, on high buskins.

Superimposed on the dissimulating visages and prudent mouths of the diplomatic personages, we see from moment to moment a vast mask, carved by the racial genius which sculpts with sword and pickaxe.

It was necessary to improvise a great gesture to affirm the diversity between these gigantic debates and the little intrigues of the true and false conquerrs at Paris. Here at last Secretary Hughes with rude, yet titanic vigor, has opened a chasm in the ocean of combats, where a candid peace will send warships crashing into obsecurity to join those cruelly sunk in the war.

PARIS REPEATED?

Young America springs to her feet before the resolute and spontaneous act in which she sees the proof of her sincere power.

But old Europe smiles a smile so forced that it splits the rouge concealing century-old rinkles.

After this audacious prologue, will the new political conductor of the United States persist in his plan?

And will he be allowed to?

Or will the Washington conference, little by little, from secret sitting to secret sitting, be reduced to employ the ignoble, wornout tools of the Paris congress?

We have aready some indications of this deplorable trend—directed by the old diplomacy against the new.

After that vociferous sincerity the door is shut and the shaded lamp replaces the solar light.

Today free men vow that never again shall low hypocrisy, the generator of all our woes, prevail.

They hope and trust that the present grandeur of the leaders of the new politics will not soon appear artificial. They do not want to recall that the stage buskin which made the actors appear higher, had cork clogs underneath.

Today America re-establishes and re-enforces its real and ideal foundations. She plants her feet in her laboring and fecund soil, at the same time shaking free from contagion and reacquiring the full sense of her former sturdy health.

Having wiped from her forehead the grime and sweat of war, she regards with a clear eye the horizon toward which she is directing her destiny.

Thrusting aside the defamations of an infirm, ill spirit, whom she repudiated, America finds again intact the sum of ideas on which she bases her faith.

I think the political representatives of Europe are meeting at Washington principally in order to recognise this inviolate patrimony of America.

"LIKE HOLY WORD"

One of my uncomfortable companions in the war said:

"I have the eye of a merchant of slaves, able to judge at a single glance the quality of human flesh, even if it is dissimulated by a tailor."

He seemed to empty men as if he took them by the feet and shook them like sacks.

The old European sacks want to be shaken and emptied of all their fraud and errors. When in the history of the world has a great event left behind a greater disillusion?

We were ingenuous enough to think that the war we fought would renew life. We thought the havoc would prepare mystical spaces for ideal appearances.

We thought that Earth would take the horizontal body of man as a unique measure to gauge his greatest destiny, and that being satiated with flesh would give it us back as spirit.

We thought that butchery, dissolving, would generate sublime fermentations. We thought that where largest was the offer the higher would be the miracle.

Too soon we perceived that we had fought to keep in motion the old constrictive machinery of injustice and servitude.

Look at this Europe, deeply moved; the doctrine of America has come like the Holy Word only to be dissimulated in the haunt of plunderers, like money without its effigy, falsified and useless.

Europe vegetates miserably with her convulsed nerves and her impoverished arteries. Only hate has power to agitate her paralysed limbs. Only the most putrified lies remain to her as balm for her wounds.

As obscure menaces din on her head, thronged with dead thoughts, she half opens her eyes, being occupied with licking and warming with her breath her two abortions—the Treaty of Versailles and the League of Nations.

It seems a crude image, but it is an exact image.

I do not think the conference will be able to dissolve imminent dangers or resolve tremendous problems.

But it will have accomplished a work of incalculable efficiency by setting the American people sincerely in front of unmasked Europe, putting Europe herself in the front of her own faults and her own ruins.

Already Italy is alone among the Allied nations. Whilst she could have avoided war and remained an inert spectator, she freely took up arms, not so much to reconquer her heirdom. As for the salvation of all that in centuries had been born from Rome—the nobility of free man.

She took up arms as America did—for ideal reason, for heroic claim. Her spontaneous act, like that of the people under George Washington, had the beauty of sacrifice offered to the hope of man.

So today Italy, victorious but poor, defrauded of her just part and free of all low cupidity, open or concealed, can alone, with her head high and a sure voice, pronounce a word worthy of the future in front of that capital erected by the fellows of Lincoln, not as a commemoration of that illustrous monument, but for the glory of highest human dignity in secula seculorum.

"After The Expiration Of The Ten Years' Naval Construction Holiday, Conditions Favoring America Will Have Undergone A Decided Change. The Time Might Come When Friendship with England Would Be Weakened. I Find America Justified In Keeping In Mind The Eventuality."

BY ADMIRAL ALFRED VON TIRPITZ

(Grand Admiral Of The German Fleet During The War)

Berlin, Nov. 26.—The only possible interest my country under existing circumstances could have in decisions arrived at in the Washington conference would be the furtherance of world peace thereby achieved. Permanent world peace is unquestionably a sublime and lofty goal. But since we have been made to realise that the material and individual interests of various countries are of so egotistical a nature as to have thrown into the discard every achievement the world has made toward cultural and ethical progress, as was actually the case with the dictated peace of Versailles, I am unable to convince myself that the human race is ripe for the idea of permanent peace.

The desperate struggle for freedom that little Ireland, for instance, has been making for centuries, and still is making, only goes to prove that not even brutal expenditure of force on the part of overwhelmingly superior power is able to maintain a state of permanent peace.

Moreover, it would be a difficult matter for me to express an expert opinion in regard to the outcome of the Washington conference so long as I am ignorant of the agreements, either direct or indirect, into which the participating Powers entered prior to convening the conference.

"WISE PRECAUTIONS"

I am therefore capable of giving only a few general impressions rather than of expressing a positive opinion. The proposals for disarmament made by Secretary Hughes in opening the conference seem to me very reasonable and sensible. On one hand, they indicate absolute harmony existing between England and the United States, which, in my opinion, already existed both before and during the World War. On the other hand, America has taken the precaution of guaranteeing to herself a decisive position on all weighty international questions in future.

This seems to me to be a quite logical outcome of the fact that the center of gravity of world interests has been shifted from Europe to America, and that by virtue of this newly acquired power the United States now assumes the authority of a natural arbitrator of the world's destinies.

But despite the very logical friendship existing today between England and the United States, I nevertheless find America justified from the standpoint of statesmanship in keeping in mind the eventuality that the time might come when for some reason not now perceptible this friendship would be weakened and that, in such event and notwithstanding the tremendous impetus given American naval strength of late, naval superiority still remains with the English, and this supremacy will certainly be maintained for some time to come.

This superiority not only consists in a greater number of ships, the centuries old traditions and wider experience in the conduct of naval warfare, but also in the comprehensive system of naval bases England possesses throughout the world.

I shall not touch here upon the potential influence that Japan as a powerful factor will be able to exert upon international questions.

U. S. WILL CHANGE

After the expiration of the ten years' naval construction holiday, conditions favoring America will have undergone a decided change. All available ship material owned by the Powers participating in the program of naval disarmament will to a very large extent have become obsolete or superannuated in the course of ten years. The entire question will be further influenced by new technical achievements made during that period.

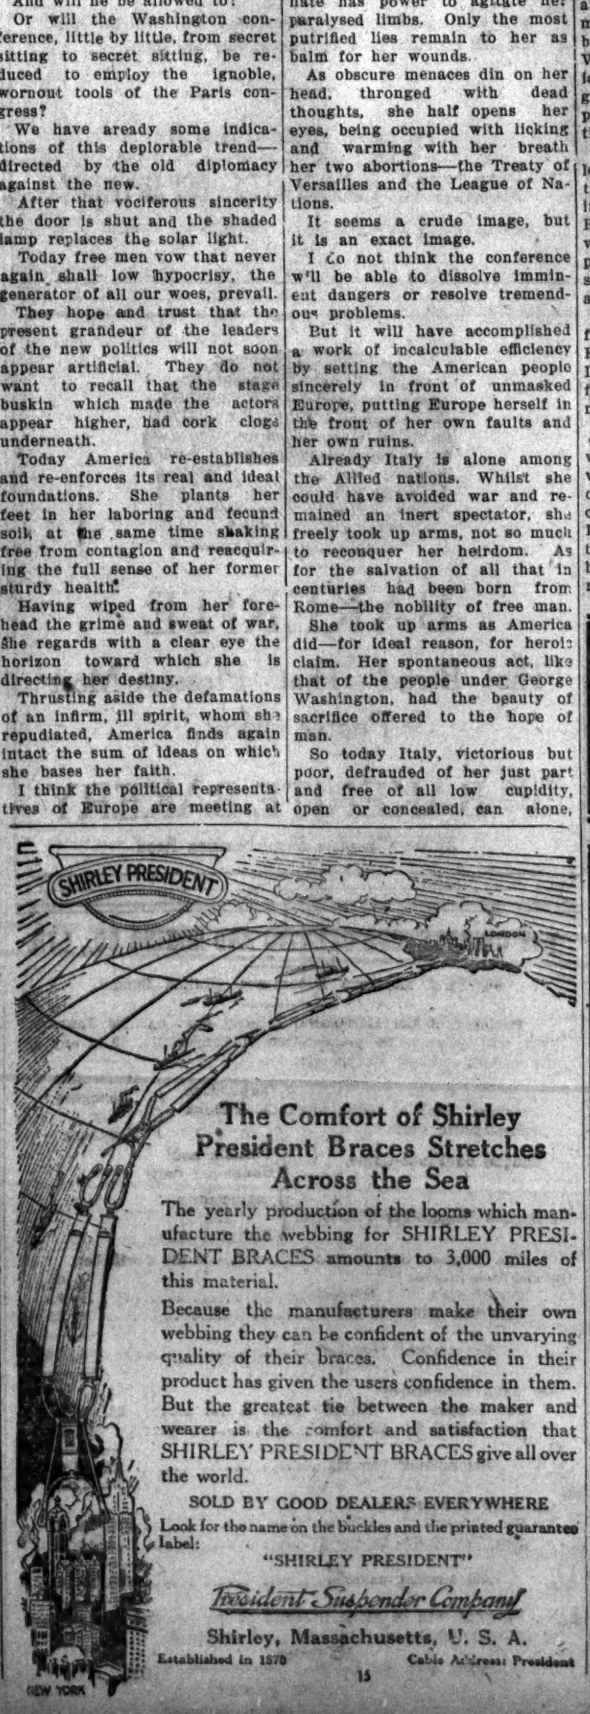
Measures providing for international suppression and restrictions upon isolated technical inventions, which would certainly be desired by certain of the interested parties, could never be enforced when it came to a conflict involving the vital interests of nations. We have been taught this by experience, and such a thing only conforms to a sound, healthy sense of the realities. The same will be true of submarines, aircraft, poisonous gases and similar weapons of modern warfare, just as it was in the case of the invention of gunpowder.

There is another possibility to be faced: that is, the return of Russia to a position of world power. Owing to her inexhaustible riches in men, natural resources and territorial expanse, she may be able to regain this position within ten years, perhaps sooner, possibly not until later.

The assumption that Japan should not feel inclined to approach Russia as a result of the agreements reached at the Washington conference, which assumption, I hear, is generally accepted in America, I hold to be inconclusive.

The moment Russia again becomes a world factor other world Powers will take an attitude toward her dictated by their own specific interests.

Whether Japan will then find it profitable and expedient to approach Russia will also depend upon the future interests of the two states.



The Comfort of Shirley President Braces Stretches Across the Sea

The yearly production of the looms which manufacture the webbing for SHIRLEY PRESIDENT BRACES amounts to 3,000 miles of this material.

Because the manufacturers make their own webbing they can be confident of the unvarying quality of their braces. Confidence in their product has given the users confidence in them. The Starchy Winter Vegetables

BY MRS. C. FREDERICK
The Distinguished Authority On Household Efficiency

As I have often said before, Nature is a most wise old lady? If we stop to think we will see that each fruit or vegetable which she produces is best suited to our needs at the season when it reaches its maturity—that each of the various fruits and vegetables is ready for us to eat at just the time when the body needs the particular food possesses.

What we call "watery vegetables," like spinach, lettuce, radishes, asparagus, etc., appear in the Spring, because it is then that the body needs the cleansing juice and mineral salts which these have in abundance. In the Fall and Winter we do not need cooling refreshment as much as we do starch, fat or other heating food elements. And so we find Mother Nature wisely providing all the so-called Winter vegetables with generous quantities of the heating and satisfying starch.

I am speaking now largely of the temperate zone, but it is quite true that everywhere one finds the fruits and vegetables native to a certain locality seasonably adapted to man's use. The tropical climates abound in very "watery" products, such as melons, cucumbers, grapes, pears, etc., while in colder climates it is the starchy food which naturally grows best, and which is also most useful to man.

What are the starchy Winter vegetables? And how can they be more widely used in the Winter menu? First there is the sweet potato, with over 21 percent of starch, and the white potato, with nearly 15 percent.

We know that starch is an energy food giving power and heat, and experience has taught us that it is best combined with fat while cooking. This is the reason why we eat so much butter with baked sweet potatoes and why they taste so delicious combined with sugar and syrup or even bacon fat. An excellent way is to parboil them, skin, slice lengthwise, lay in a buttered casserole and dot with more butter and brown sugar or molasses and cook slowly in the oven until somewhat candied. They may also be used like pumpkin in a pie, fried, etc., in every case affording most satisfying and energy giving dishes.

Similar to the sweet potato is the parsnip, which is all too seldom seen on our tables. Parsnips must be well scrubbed before cooking and generally they need to be parboiled. Once the skins have been slipped off the pulp is ready to mash like potato and make into "cakes" or "balls." Of it may be sliced lengthwise and laid in a baking pan with fat to brown, or it may be fried. In every case it offers a satisfying substitute for the white potato. By the way, never serve white potatoes at the same meal at which some other very starchy vegetable is served.

The yellow turnip has less starch than parsnips—only about 6 percent. It again may be mashed, cut in cubes and served with a white sauce or used as an accompaniment to boiled meats, stews and soups, to which it gives a pleasant flavor if not used too liberally.

That queer, knobby, dirt-colored vegetable known as the Jersualem artichoke also contains considerable starch, though not in as mealy a form. It has a delicate sweet flavor, something like asparagus. It should be carefully boiled and peeled and then it may be served with a little butter or a drawn sauce or cold as a salad with French dressing. A couple of pounds of artichokes are enough for a number of servings.

A vegetable similar in taste but much more delicate is salsify or "oyster plant." It can be used in many ways. It should always be scraped under water and never allowed to remain uncovered in the air, but cooked at once, for otherwise it turns black. Its roots may be cut in slices and used like parsnip or carrot.

The French artichoke, which is becoming more and more familiar in the markets of our large cities, does not belong to the potato family at all, although it has considerable starch in each leaf. It looks much like a shortened and thickened top of a pin apple, consisting of overlapping layers of thick leaves of a deep green. Each "choke" may be boiled and served with various sauces or the base may be used as a salad. It offers a pleasant change from other varieties of starchy food, particularly for a small family.

We do not generally think of the ordinary cabbage as having much starch, but, nevertheless, it has considerable—nearly 5 percent. So has its cousin the red cabbage, which also deserves a much wider use on the American table. It may be shredded and boiled or braised with fat in a deep pot and made into a kind of sweet-sour dish most zestful with roast meats. We must not forget squash and pumpkin, two more of our very starchy Winter vegetables. Squash makes a luscious dish if cut in pieces about three inches square and baked slowly for about an hour. The pulp may be scraped out and seasoned, butter added, and replaced in the shell just before serving. Pumpkin is a true vegetable if mashed after boiling and its use need not be confined to pie alone.

The economical and sensible housekeeper will not be so foolish as to use "forced" and out-of-season vegetables instead of those which naturally mature at a certain time. One chief cause of our high food costs is because we ask for asparagus and cucumbers in January and for cefery in June.

Learn to know the season at which any vegetable is at its best in your locality. It will be the one your body needs most at that time and it should also be the cheapest. Learn to make better use of the simple starchy Winter "roots"—serve them in new ways and cut down the Winter food bill as well as provide your family much-needed starch and energy to withstand the cold weather.

Household Helps

Ammonia and water will remove the stains made by perspiration.

Hair brushes should be washed at least once a week in a little ammonia and water.

Rub rusty umbrella ribs with vaseline to prevent their coming loose and being forced through the fabric.

On a windy day add a little salt to the starch to prevent its being blown out of the clothes while they are drying.

If a slice of fat pork is used for greasing the griddle on which cakes are cooked there will be no unpleasant smoke.

Ivory knife handles that have become badly discolored can be nicely cleaned by rubbing them with half a lemon dipped in salt.

On Making Sure

There is nothing like making sure where one's health is concerned. Good health is the best guarantee that Life shall be a success. Now it is well-known that digestive disorders are the cause of more cases of ill-health than any other class of ailment. The digestive system is so extensive, so complex and so hard-worked, that its liability to derangement is not astonishing. Happily, however, many digestive ailments can be easily remedied. Happily, too, many digestions need never go wrong. You can make reasonably sure that your digestion will not fail you, even under trying conditions, if you get into the excellent way of taking Beecham's Pills. This "Wonderful Medicine"—as it has been called—does really work wonders with the digestive system. Beecham's Pills impart tone to the stomach, regulate the action of the liver and kidneys and gently stimulate the bowels into healthy activity. Get into the habit of making sure. Have recourse to Beecham's Pills at the first sign of digestive trouble. Make sure of your health by taking

Beecham's Pills.

8 Parts — THE GREATEST LOVE STORY EVER TOLD — 8 Parts
JUST READ THIS

Never—in all the years of my experience—have I seen a drama of human emotions which so filled the heart to overflowing as "The Right to Happiness."

Tremendous though it is in a purely physical and scenic sense, the thoughts and emotions with which it overwhelms you, make it the one great thinking picture of the generation.

Yet withal that it is the greatest love story ever told.
